J. MAYER H. und Partner, Architekten works at the intersection of architecture, communication, and new technology. From urban planning schemes and buildings to installation art and objects with new materials, the relationship between the human body, technology, and nature form the background for a new production of space. Recent projects include the high-rise Court of Justice building in Hasselt, Belgium; Metropol Parasol, a redevelopment of the Plaza de la Encarnacion in Sevilla, Spain; KA300, the temporary jubilee pavilion in Karlsruhe, Germany; and several public and infrastructural projects in Georgia, including an airport in Mestia, the border checkpoint in Sarpi, and three rest stops along the highway in Gori and Locchini. Upcoming projects include the RKM740 in Düsseldorf, a housing high-rise and two new university buildings for FOM, one in Düsseldorf and the other in Berlin; the shopping and activity complex VOLT in Berlin near Alexanderplatz; a collaboration project for the façade design of a parking garage in Miami's Art District, USA; Diago, a small home and Palloon, a pavilion (both prefabricated) for Revolution Pre-Crafted Properties.
